

Posting Title: Associate Scientist I
Functional Unit: Research and Development
Job Category: Research and Development

Job Description:

- Assist with the day-to-day operation of the core facility as instructed by the supervisor.
- Perform analysis work with minimal supervision.
- Repairs instruments and/or initiates requests for instrument repair through vendors.
- Maintains cleanliness of assigned instrumentation and/or equipment.
- Assist with cell sorting as needed.
- Complies with safety regulation.
- Available to help during the operating hours of the core facility.
- Provisioning consumables.
- Maintain best knowledge of current practices in flow cytometry.
- Help users with data analysis as needed and other duties assigned.

Qualifications: B.S. and 5 years of work experience.
Basic knowledge of Immunology and immunological methods.

The candidate must be able to lift a 40 lb-s fluid container. Work in an environment with natural light, work during first shift hours.

Education: B.S. in Engineering, Biology, Biochemistry or related field.